Summary of features:

This website is a personal art gallery website. The main feature is the ability to view art in the gallery, which tells you some information about the art and the artist. The Lookup Artist page can be used to search for a specific artist, where you can find more information about them and an email to contact them. The Users tab contains the CRUD pages for users, which allow for viewing of existing users and registration of new users. Finally, the data analysis tab shows the favorite mediums of artists and of users so that they can be compared. This is done using google pie charts. Another feature that can be accessed from the Home page is a link to "Learn About Colors." This page has a dropdown list that allows users to select a color. The color of the area around the button will then change to the selected color and a fact will be displayed about the color.
